Great Rabbit Winnie

What is this character's favourite breakfast?

Winnie loves to sit down and tuck into a cup of Earl Grey tea in the morning from a mug which has dandelions on. Alongside this Winnie will have seeded bread topped with butter and honey. The honey is from her friend Bob the bee who delivers her a small jar once a month.

What is this character's greatest achievement?

Creating the 'Rabbits for Change' community group. Where rabbits meet up to improve the conditions of the park, and the lives of the rabbits in the community. They have regular inter-animal meet-ups and social evenings where they produce plays, sports matches, and felting with fur workshops.

What do they do for a living?

Now retired from her job running the local forager cafe, where she was a barista, her main focus is the community group.

When was the first time they fell in love?

By the stream in Hodger park, where she laid eyes on a hedgehog named Jen, who was eating a worm at the time, they spoke about last night's episode of Eastenders together, it was the live 25th-anniversary episode, so there was a lot to discuss.

What is their party trick?

A really good Geordie accent impression.

What would they watch on TV?

Eastenders Omnibus and the rabbit version of Autumn Watch where all the bunnies watch humans go on autumnal walks and buy pumpkins.

What is their most treasured possession?

A floral notebook in which she presses flowers in.

Who is their best friend?

Brenda bunny who she runs the park Rabbits for Change with, they always hang out together in each other's coups and snuggle up in winter.
